

Russia Sends Technicians, Arms to Cuba

By LARRY OSIUS

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials believe the Soviet Union's announcement that it will send military equipment and technicians to Cuba merely confirms what has been going on for a long time.

The Soviet statement Sunday said arms and technical specialists will be provided to meet "the threats of aggressive imperialism with regard to Cuba." Type and amount of arms and men were not specified.

A State Department spokesman said the Soviet communique appeared to be an attempt to make legitimate what the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc nations have been doing for several months—supplying Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro with military assistance.

"What they say about delivering arms and sending technical specialists to train troops is exactly what they are doing," said the spokesman. He said the Moscow communique seems to mean such aid will continue.

There was no immediate White House comment on the Russian announcement, which came shortly after the departure from Moscow of Cuban Economic Minister Ernesto Guevara and militia leader Emilio Aragones Navarro.

In other developments on the Cuban situation: Moscow's announcement of military aid to Cuba followed recent statements by U.S. officials that some 20 Soviet ships have unloaded a large assortment of military hardware in Cuba.

So far, U.S. officials have said, about 3,000 Communist bloc military technicians have landed in Cuba but they contend there are no indications that Soviet combat troops are included.

Isidoro Boria, who said he wants the same type of military help for exiled Cuban students, declared on a television program—NBC, "Meet the Press"—"Lots of presses (stories) have called them (Communist soldiers) technicians, but we have to call them troops. I don't think that these troops have been sent there for offensive purposes. But the point is they have been landed there."

Boria, military affairs director of the Cuban Student Directorate, helped lead a foray by 23 students in a cabin cruiser and a PT boat on Aug. 24. The two boats shelled a Havana hotel for about 15 minutes.

Boria also said the student group opposes efforts to ransom some 1,100 Cubans captured by Castro in the abortive invasion attempt of April 1961. Castro has asked $62 million for their freedom.

James B. Donovan, a New York attorney, is in Cuba representing the Cuba Families Committee of the United States in an attempt to negotiate the prisoners' freedom. He met with Castro for two hours Saturday and said later the discussions were progressing favorably.

But two Southern senators called for the United States to take a direct hand in ridding Cuba of Communist leadership.

Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., said the United States should sponsor a Western Hemisphere military organization to "face up to the problem in Cuba."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., in a letter to constituents said, "If the circumstances in 1960 and early 1961 justified decisions by two administrations that a U.S.-sponsored invasion of Cuba was essential, how can the far worse circumstances of today require less? The longer the United States waits to expel communism from Cuba, the more difficult will be the job."

Chance Body Might Be Identified

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — New light may be shed here today on the identity of an embalmed body which has lain in a Marianne funeral home since 1909.

A Pine Bluff, Ark., woman, who identified herself only as "Mrs. Parker," telephoned Sunday and described the body, which has been dubbed "Tommy Moon."

Norris Hodge, who bought the funeral home earlier this year and inherited Tommy Moon, said the woman correctly identified scars, hair coloring and the shape of the nose.

The body was found on a moonlit night in 1909 by a man named Tommy, and thus the origin of the name.

Hodge said it is believed the man died of malaria.

The funeral home was unsuccessful in its attempt to ded the body to the University of Arkansas Medical Center and planned to ask permission of the city council this week to bury it.

Colleges in State Expect 30,000 Plus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The vanguard of an estimated 30,000 students will arrive at the state's 21 colleges and universities this week with most institutions expecting record enrollments.

Anticipated enrollments range from 7,000 at the University of Arkansas to 200 at Conway Baptist College.

Most of the state institutions and many private schools have increased their dormitory facilities to take care of the expected flood of scholars. However, most still have waiting lists for on-campus housing.

Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway looks for about 2,500 students, an increase of 400 Arkansas State at Jonesboro anticipates enrollment will be between 3,700 and 4,000, compared to 3,400 last year.

Arkansas Tech expects to add 150 to 200 to last year's enrollment of 1,500.

Southern State College at Magnolia looks for a 10 to 15 per cent increase over last year's student body of 1,276.

Henderson State Teachers at Arkadelphia declined to estimate this year's enrollment, but a spokesman said the college expects an increase from last year's 1,300 students.

Arkansas AM&N at Pine Bluff, the state's only all-Negro school, said it has 1,053 new applications for entrance. It had 1,600 students last year.

The University of Arkansas expects an 8 to 10 per cent increase over last year's enrollment of 6,388.

Little Rock University, Ouachita Baptist at Arkadelphia and Philander Smith College for Negroes at Little Rock were among private schools expecting larger enrollments but without estimates of the number of additional students. LRU had 1,541 students, Ouachita 1,232 and Philander 550 last year.

Arkansas Baptist College for Negroes at Little Rock expects 50 additional students for a total enrollment of 300 and Shorter College for Negroes at Little Rock looks for 250 students and an increase of 70.

Hendrix College at Conway said it can handle only 600 students and it has more than 1,200 applications to pick its student body from.

Only one school—the College of the Ozarks at Clarksville—is expecting a drop in enrollment. Officials said about 430 students are expected, compared to 452 last year.

Death Toll on Labor Day May Hit New Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic fatalities across the nation mounted today at a pace that threatened to set a new record for a Labor Day holiday weekend.

The National Safety Council said the toll for the three-day period, the final holiday of the summer season, could reach 500 if the highway carnage continues at its present pace.

The traffic toll reached 384 today and traffic officials said they look for the rate of fatalities to increase later as millions of vacationing motorists commence the homeward trek. In addition to traffic deaths, another 19 died in boating mishaps, 31 drowned and 61 died in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 495.

Before the start of the 78-hour holiday period at 6 p.m. local time Friday, the Safety Council had estimated between 410 and 490 lives would be lost in traffic accidents. But a sharp increase in the hourly rate of deaths Sunday caused the council to raise its estimate.

The revised estimate of 500 traffic fatalities, if reached, would surpass the record Labor Day toll of 461 deaths in 1951. The holiday period ends at midnight (local time) tonight.

Officers said Mrs. Blackmon told them the shooting occurred after a few words had been exchanged between the women and Carter.

Police, arriving on the scene, were met by Carter who shouted, "here I am, come and get me," and then started firing at them.

From eight to 10 officers returned the fire, fatally wounding the airman.

In other weekend deaths: Roy Cross, 58, of Swifton, was killed when his pickup truck went out of control and crashed on state Highway 25 about five miles south of Heber Springs.

James Williamson, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Williamson of Crumrod, 30 miles south of Helena, was fatally shot in the eye while he and a neighbor played with a 22 caliber rifle.

Andrew Kerr of North Little Rock was shot to death at a night club in North Little Rock. Police held Ethel Le Williams pending further investigation.

Mattie B. Smith, 99-year-old Negro, was struck and killed by a car driven by Henry T. McRoy, 38, of Hope, as she crossed U.S. Highway 67 near the Hope city limits.

Robert Bellamy, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bellamy of Pine Bluff, drowned when he fell from a motorboat on Atkins Lake south of Pine Bluff. His father is president of National Bank of Commerce in Pine Bluff.

During the week, 17 persons died in traffic accidents.

Mr. Rephan opened his first store in Hope during the depression. He was well known in this area having made his home in Hope for many years.

He was a member of the Levi Hospital and was a former member of the Board of Directors of the Rotary Club and the Board of Directors of the Hot Springs Children's Home.

He was a member of the House of Israel, Hot Springs Lodge 62, F and AM, the Shrine and B'nai B'rith. He was born at Galacia, Austria and moved to the United States with his parents at an early age.

Survivors include his wife, 3 son, Bernard Rephan of Hot Springs; a daughter, Mrs. Norma Lockwood of Little Rock; a sister, Mrs. Louis Festinger of Pine Bluff.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Gross Funeral Chapel by Rabbi Albert A. Michaels. Burial will be a Jewish West Cemetery.

Hunger, Disease and Terror Follow Quake in Which 3,316 Die

Violence in State Claims 28 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Apparent family trouble Sunday resulted in the shooting deaths of two Negroes in Little Rock and brought to 28 the number of persons dying violently in Arkansas during the week ended last midnight.

During the first two days of the long Labor Day weekend, eight persons died on Arkansas highways.

Sgt. Eugene Bernard Carter, 27, was shot to death by Little Rock police after Carter fatally wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rosie Mae Reed, about 50, and wounded Mrs. Mildred Blackmon, 44.

Carter was stationed at MacDill Air Force Base near Tampa, Fla., and had been in the service since he was 16.

Officers said Mrs. Blackmon told them the shooting occurred after a few words had been exchanged between the women and Carter.

Police, arriving on the scene, were met by Carter who shouted, "here I am, come and get me," and then started firing at them.

From eight to 10 officers returned the fire, fatally wounding the airman.

Burma Seeks Pledge to End Nuclear Tests

GENEVA (AP) — Burma proposed today that President Kennedy, Soviet Premier Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan join in a personal pledge suspending nuclear weapon tests.

Burmese delegate James Barrington suggested to the 17-nation disarmament conference that the three government chiefs of the nuclear powers put their own responsibility at stake to stop nuclear explosions.

Barrington proposed that the big three issue declarations assuming personal responsibility:

1. That there would be no nuclear testing while a comprehensive treaty banning all explosions is worked out;
2. That their negotiators would continue their efforts to conclude a treaty soon;
3. That an international scientific commission be formed as soon as possible as the first step in the creation of an organization to administer a test ban.

Western conference sources described Barrington's proposed formula as an uncontrolled moratorium which the United States and Britain so far have refused to accept because of their own vital security interests.

Barrington was not the first nonaligned delegate to suggest such a procedure. Arthur Lal of India proposed last week that the three nuclear powers pledge to restrain themselves in nuclear testing. The Western side interpreted this, too, as an uncontrolled moratorium.

Typhoon Toll in China Reaches 134

HONG KONG (AP) — The toll from Typhoon Wanda, Hong Kong's worst storm in a quarter of a century, rose steadily today as rescue workers continued digging into flooded and demolished homes.

The government reported at least 134 dead, 41 missing, 515 injured and 46,550 homeless. Local Chinese newspapers estimated more than 300 were killed.

Wanda hit the refugee-crowded British colony with winds of 160 m.p.h. Saturday. Damage was estimated unofficially at between $2 million and $4 million.

Toll May Hit 9,000; Many Are Homeless

By PARVIS RAEW

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Hunger, disease and terror today gripped northwest Iran in the wake of a giant earthquake that buried villages under mud and debris, killing from 3,000 to 9,500 persons.

The government announced "more than 3,316" dead, 5,000 injured and 100,000 homeless. But unofficial sources put the death toll as high as 9,500.

The U. S. Embassy announced that no Americans were among the dead or injured.

The quake lasted only one minute Saturday night with the worst devastation over a 23,000-square-mile area centering around Takistan, 100 miles north-west of Tehran and about 20 miles southwest of the major rail city of Kazvin.

The Iranian Red Cross said the quake killed 3,000 of the 5,000 inhabitants of Dan-Isfahan near Takistan.

The village, set on a foothill of an 8,385-foot mountain, was left a mass of mud and debris. Survivors ran screaming for help as a rescue plane landed on the fringe of the village. Of the 322 houses in the village, only one mosque and one brick building still stand.

A few half-destroyed walls stand as ghostly remnants of the tragedy.

Prime Minister Asadullah Alam, touring the disaster area, said: "Unfortunately the tragedy is bigger and greater than at first reported."

Dreadful Weekend for a Camel

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) — Eddie the camel was reported unhappy but reasonably healthy today after a dreadful Labor Day weekend.

Eddie, part of King Brothers Circus exotic livestock, was involved in what has come to be a Labor Day tradition — a highway accident.

It was not so serious as it could have been, but Eddie spent a painful hour trapped in the wreckage when a trailer-truck careened off a highway near Marked Tree, Ark., Sunday and overturned into a ditch.

It happened about 2:30 a.m. The crash freed a herd of trained Shetland ponies and for awhile things were pretty hectic.

"It was the wildest night I have ever been through," said State Troopers.

Troopers, vet and truck drivers as helpers, got poor old Eddie out of the truck and moved him to Lepanto, where veterinarian Clyde Eason administered first aid on his front lawn.

"It was the first Camel I've ever worked on," said Eason. "You might know it would have to be in the middle of a soaking rain."

After treatment, Eddie was transferred to circus quarters here.

At Marked Tree, Deputy Sheriff Bud Rollins said the driver of the truck, Ernest Redden, 26 and the Circus veterinarian, Russell Wahlberg, 56, were jailed on charges of carrying dangerous weapons.

They were not hurt.

ORE FOR THE ATOM—The days of the private uranium prospector, with a pick in one hand and Geiger counter in the other, are part of the past. The scope of modern mining is illustrated by this huge open pit of Gunnar Mining Ltd. in northwestern Saskatchewan. It is 1,000 feet long and 800 wide. The spiral road is 50 feet wide and nearly a mile long from top to bottom. The otherwise barren area is among the richest in Canada, estimated to contain $130 million worth of uranium ore. A community of 800 people clusters near the shore of Lake Athabasca.

Talks Slated in Railway Walkout

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of the Chicago and North Western Railway and its striking telegraphers scheduled Labor Day peace talks today as the five-day work stoppage on the nation's third longest railroad tightened its pinch on segments of the Midwest's economy.

Both sides clung resolutely to their rival positions in a three-hour negotiations session Sunday and federal mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr. held out little hope for a quick settlement.

O'Neill said the daily sessions, which started Friday, one day after the walkout, have been fruitful in that the negotiators are discussing specific points in a presidential emergency board report on the dispute issued in April.

The AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers called a strike of its 1,000 members Thursday. The 10,600-mile North Western, which serves shippers and passengers in nine states, halted operations. The work stoppage also idled the line's 15,500 other union employees.

The dispute, which is five years old, revolves around a union demand for a voice in elimination of jobs and safeguards for discharged personnel. The union originally demanded that no job in existence Dec. 31, 1957 be abolished without union approval.

The presidential board recommended that the union withdraw its demands and that negotiations be undertaken on 10 points covering employee protection and retraining.

The railroad accepted the report but the union rejected it.

Wheat farmers, their harvest well under way, are feeling the effects of the strike. The crop is filling country elevators and spilling on the ground, facing spoilage.

The strike also has had an impact on the operation of paper mills, the movement of iron ore and commerce to and from Lake Michigan ports. Construction work was delayed on an Air Force missile site in South Dakota.

NFO Optimistic Over Program

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — Optimistic National Farmers Organization officials predicted today success for their holding action designed to increase and stabilize the prices of livestock and grain.

The movement, said Oren Lee Staley of Rea, Mo., NFO president, may achieve success sooner than had been anticipated because "we are getting more support than we had expected."

A group of Wright County, Iowa NFO members announced that they have raised $25,000 and are prepared to take options on Wright County hogs at $1 per hundredweight above the Aug. 31 local market price.

The NFO, by holding livestock and grain off the market, seeks to force processors to sign contracts for the purchase of these commodities through NFO at prices considerably higher than normal market levels.

Youths Have Fling at Resort Spots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Youth had its fling on the last big holiday weekend of the summer, but in seaside resorts on both sides of the continent police had the final throw.

More than 200 college-age celebrants were tossed behind bars in the wake of Labor Day riots in Seaside, Ore., Ocean City, Md., and Hampton Beach, N.H.

However, in Lake George, N.Y., high in the Adirondack Mountains, nearly 1,000 young persons milled about early Monday, then scattered without incident in the face of chilly temperatures and an extra-heavy police guard.

Seaside, an Oregon coast resort community of 3,700, was hit by a riot of 1,500 to 2,000 youths over the weekend. With some participants drawing courage from liquor, the rioters erupted onto the principal street, Broadway, Saturday night and again Sunday afternoon.

Gov. Mark Hatfield called out the National Guard, but the disturbance died down by Sunday night.

At the height of the riots, police had to use nightsticks. Some heads were bloodied.

All told, some 60 rioters were taken into custody, and 40 of them early today. Bail for each was set at $300.

"We'll hold them until they rot, if need be," said Mayor M.W. Pysher. "When they go home and tell their buddies it was $300, they are going to think."

Home for a high percentage of them, said a Seaside official, was neighboring Washington State and Seattle in particular.

At Ocean City, Md., some 500 college students and teen-agers milled around the boardwalk on the Atlantic Ocean early Monday, and police slapped a curfew on all persons under 25. Arrested were 48 persons, accused of violating the curfew.

Ocean City had been the scene of riots in 1961 and 1960.

Nearly 100 state and town police set up roadblocks against incoming traffic. K9 dogs were used briefly to aid in clearing the streets, but police said the situation never got out of hand.

In Hampton Beach, N.H., the disturbance began when long lines of shouting college and high school boys snake-danced along the beach and back onto a nearby boulevard, bordered by hotels and restaurants.

Police said some of the youths evidently had obtained liquor across the Massachusetts border and brought it into New Hampshire.

There were no reports of personal injury or property damage, although a few rubbish baskets along the beach were set afire.

Police took more than 100 youths into custody, and quiet was restored.

West Berliners Boo Soviet Guard

BERLIN (AP) — About 250 West Berliners booed and shook their fists at Soviet armored cars as they drove into West Berlin today on the way to change the guard at a Soviet war memorial.

Legal Notice

Police held the crowd back, and reporters saw no stones thrown.

The Soviets today dropped their own jeep escort which had been accompanying the armored personnel carriers in recent days. As usual, U.S. military police sedans and West Berlin police cars accompanied the Soviets.

New Season on TV Opens Officially

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The fall season of television officially opens today—quietly. "To Tell the Truth," CBS' pleasant little guessing game, begins its season of new shows.

The action really starts next week, building up to a point when, on Sept. 23, a total of nine shows either will be bowing in or resuming with new shows.

First new show of the season will be CBS' "Lloyd Bridges Show" (replacing "Password") which moves to Sundays on Sept. 11. It's an anthology series.

It's hard to believe there isn't some degree of cooperation among the three major networks to avoid conflicts in the debuts of the 30-odd new shows scheduled for autumn. There are, in fact, only three conflicts.

CBS' hour-long comedy, "Fair Exchange," has its first show on Sept. 21 at the same time as "Don't Call Me Charlie," a comedy, and "The Jack Paar Show" on NBC. NBC's modern Western, "Empire," moves into position on Sept. 25 at the same hour the new hour-long Red Skelton Show debuts on CBS.

Finally, there is a head-on collision in store between CBS' new Jackie Gleason variety hour and the ABC Roy Rogers-Dale Evans country-style music and comedy show on Sept. 29.

The show that every year proves to be among the most popular special of the season (along with the Oscar and Emmy awards program) will turn up Sept. 8—The annual "Miss America" contest finals on CBS. As usual, Bert Parks will preside over the rites. "Father Knows Best," which last season did well when CBS re-ran old episodes in a prime evening-time spot, is going to get a re-run in an expensive night spot, which establishes some sort of a record.

Rainmaker Berry Has Retired

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Rainmaker Homer Berry has retired.

Berry said he and his wife and infant daughter plan to vacation in Arizona. Then, he said, he hopes to air condition Chicago and drive the smog from Los Angeles. He didn't say how.

Berry, 55, announced his retirement Saturday after receiving $600 from 12 farmers in northeast Arkansas. They had contracted for two inches of rain. They got it. Previously, a Little Rock radio station paid Berry $500 for a 1½-inch rainfall—badly needed by the city, which went 44 days without precipitation.

Berry said he used chemicals to bring rain from clouds. The retired Air Force major from North Little Rock said he was getting out of the rainmaking business because persons who need rain "would worry me to death with orders."

The new fall hair styles will be sleek and shining. Only clean, healthy hair will be manageable. Before you shampoo, comb the hair through thoroughly with your large dress comb, and massage your scalp with your fingertips (left) to stimulate circulation. Two of the new coiffures, called "convertibles" because they can be worn up or down without resetting, require medium length hair. One style (center) follows the natural bend of the hair and has little wave. The smooth hairdo (right) is combed back from the forehead and has deep waves over the ears. Both can be brushed up over the left side and worn with one ear exposed. Little teasing of the hair is required.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Compares Her Private Life to That of M. M.

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Though a nobody, my personal history parallels that of Marilyn Monroe. Father and mother separated. I was shunted from one foster home to another. I had three marriages. There the similarity ends.

Possessing neither Marilyn's beauty nor talents, I never got any further as an actress than comedy bit parts in burlesque. I'm the Funny Face gal with a tear behind every laugh, stooge for the slapstick comedian.

Like Marilyn was, I'm shy, eager, impulsive and friendly, but ever fearful of being rejected. This comes from having to adjust as a child to the ways of others if I wanted to eat. For that reason I've always voted independence above love, as Marilyn probably did. I find a husband resents independence in a wife same as Joe DiMaggio and when Marilyn went on being a movie star after their marriage and landed a part where a fan blew her skirts over her head, everybody laughed but Joe.

A nicer guy never lived than my second husband but the moment he started telling me what I couldn't do, it was good-bye and thanks for the memory. Like Marilyn I married a third time — my first marriage didn't count, we were both such kids.

Instead of a producer and playwright, I married the stage manager of our show. No more making like peek-a-boo with the boys out front, which was part of my act. No more nothing but shackles with a husband for keeper. Our divorce became final last week. Now my second husband wants to marry and promises me the liberty of a wife with a career. Should I believe him? —Uncertain.

Dear Uncertain: The irony of your situation — as it was with Marilyn — is that your career depends upon lure. Yet this very quality which originally attracted your husband is bitterly resented by them after marriage, especially if you unconsciously use it on others.

Sex appeal was Marilyn's stock in trade and, much as she loved Joe DiMaggio, she wasn't going out of business at that stage of the game. This aspect of her career undoubtedly stood in the way of her happiness with any one man—she couldn't help being herself!

The very thing which made her successful blighted her life and therein lay the tragedy. If she'd drawn a philosopher instead for a husband, he would have understood her nature and accepted her as she was. But such a man is rare. This is essentially your problem. Think twice before you remarry that second husband.

Dear Helen: There's a real nice little boy in our neighborhood well-liked by everybody but his parents. Though not physically abused, his family constantly slights him in favor of his sisters. I admit they are very pretty with golden curls and baby-star blue eyes while he's nothing but a freckle-faced, snub-nosed homely little kid. He doesn't even have decent shoes to wear to church Sundays. My husband and I would like to buy him a pair but don't know how to go about asking his parents if we might.

His teacher says he's extra bright at school and could go far with a little encouragement from

Arkansan Drowns in Texas River

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Henry H. Goodman, 54, of Little Rock, Ark., was reported drowned in the San Jacinto River near Houston Saturday. Witnesses said he disappeared while swimming. The body was not recovered immediately.

If the wood used in the United States in one year were stacked to cover an average city block, the pile would reach into outer space for 463 miles.

Ask him about it. Perhaps by talking it out you can help him overcome this feeling. The next best thing is to walk other people's dogs for them. I did that as a child.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "A Child's Grace."
